What are Typhoons?

Typhoons are tropical cyclones that form in the Pacific Ocean. The Okinawa prefecture and surrounding areas are prime breeding grounds for these storms. High humidity, and warm water temperatures, provide ideal climates for typhoons. When typhoons develop, they pose serious threats to the local community. Winds can reach extreme levels (greater than 150 mph), which can send debris flying through the air. Additionally, storm surges can occur, raising water levels and intensifying waves caused by high winds.

Typhoon season in Okinawa starts on June 1st and continues through November 30th each year. This is the most likely time for typhoons to occur, but they can occur at any point throughout the year if the right conditions are present. If a typhoon does occur, Okinawa prepares for the storm by executing actions outlined in Tropical Cyclone Conditions of Readiness (TCCOR).

TCCORs are graduated states of readiness based on the forecast of 50 knots (58 mph) winds. TCCOR declarations are orders: take them seriously! While conditions may not look bad where you are, they can change quickly and you can be caught in a violent storm without warning. Typhoon can accelerate rapidly, causing a drastic shift in the surrounding climate, causing a violent storm without warning. Changes in TCCOR levels are broadcasted over AFN radio (89.1 FM) and published on the AFN Okinawa and Kadena Air Base official Facebook pages.

US Naval Hospital Considerations

At TCCOR 1-C, routine admission to the US Naval Hospital at Camp Foster and all branch medical clinics on the island are suspended until TCCOR-Storm Watch or All Clear are declared. Emergency care is still available at the US Naval Hospital. Appointments cancelled due to typhoon conditions should be rescheduled by calling the appropriate clinics.

All expectant mothers who are 37 weeks (34 weeks with twins or high risk pregnancies) or greater gestation are advised to report to the US Naval Hospital, Camp Foster. Upon arrival, expectant mothers are expected to check-in at the Information Desk. Expectant mothers will be residing in the hospital during the emergency phase of the storm. Bring all prescription medications, personal toilet articles, a change of clothing, snacks (food options are limited), credit card for meals, sleeping bag and pillow. If you bring a radio, it must have earphones. Due to limited space in the Naval Hospital, you may bring only ONE adult with you (no children or pets due to safety concerns)

After the Storm

USE CAUTION

Be aware that there may be glass, debris, power lines, fires, and potentially harmful items displaced from the typhoon. You should not leave your safe area until notified by authorities that it is safe to do so. You must allow recovery personnel to do their job safely and efficiently. When unauthorized personnel are out roaming the streets and taking in the damage, they endanger both themselves and the recovery crews. Please stay put until told to leave, unless you have an emergency. When you are finally authorized to leave your safe area, use extreme caution. Check the area around your quarters, and help your neighbors, especially families of deployed members. Be sure to check common areas where children play. Base recovery crews will complete initial checks in these areas, but it is recommended to double check the area before children return in case something was overlooked. Ensure you remove sandbags from doorsills to prevent safety concerns and help mitigate pest infiltration.

Filing a Claim for Damage

If you have private insurance, you must first file with your insurance company. If you suffered loss or damage to your personal property due to a typhoon, and you meet both of the criteria outlined below, you can file a claim through your service specific claim department listed below:

Criteria 1: You are an active duty member, a reservist on active duty, or a civilian Employee of the Department of Defense and you are not considered a local inhabitant of the area.

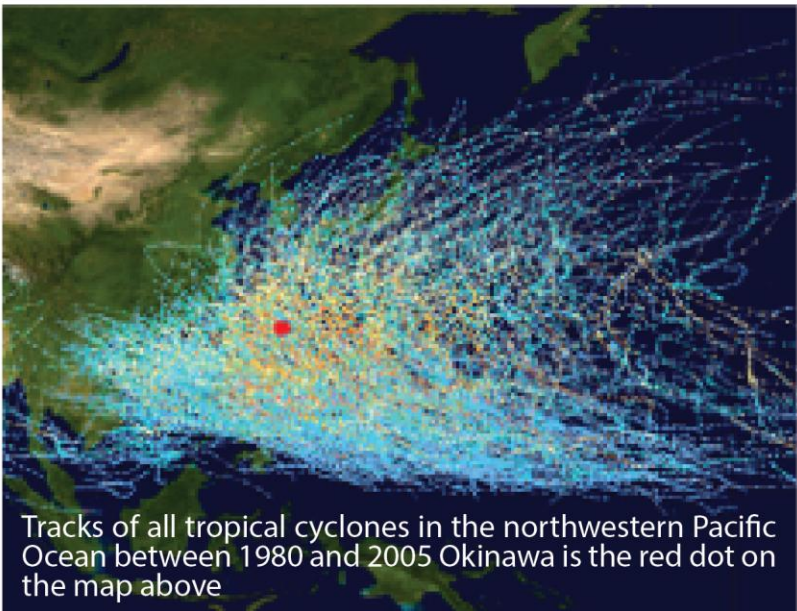

Criteria 2: The property was located in your assigned or authorized quarters, or located on base when it was damaged. Please see below information on contacting your respective branch claims section:
